About Greenstand: We are an open community operating as a U.S.-based 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization developing open-source technology to address climate change and alleviate poverty through digitizing environmental goods and services.

Our Treetracker app verifies and tracks individual trees, thus creating transparency in the reforestation sphere. Organizations and donors can locate individual trees and trade their ecological impact. By facilitating the ownership of tree-based impacts and ecological services, Greenstand enables tree-growing organizations to stay accountable.
